FLETCHER'S HOME FROM NORTHERN TRIP

Here's A Story About The Big One That Got Away

The fishing editor of this newspaper can vouch for the truth of this story. And when he vouches for the truth of a fish story told by Rube Vann and Jerry Berry he has to be positive beyond any reasonable doubt that the story is based on truth.

Anyway, Rube and Jerry fished in the Lake Wednesday afternoon. Jerry rowed the boat, Rube "tatted." He caught one two-pounder. He put on his stringer—one of that variety that has an individual snap for each fish. He caught a three pounder. He put it on the stringer. He caught a six pounder. He put it on the stringer. After an hour more of fishing they decided to come home. After all they had all the fish they needed. They reached overboard and pulled up the stringer. What do you suppose had happened? Yes sir, the big fish had freed himself.

Will Ignorance Cure Malaria?

A MERICAN health officers were as amused as those in the Transvaal by newspaper announcements of two new "cures" for malaria—one from South Carolina.

Some have their own "cures."

"Cure. It consists in boring a hole into an oak tree, blowing into the hole, and then plugging it with a wooden peg."

If this does not seem so good neither does that from the Transvaal, which is now in the midst of its "winter." It seems that to prevent malaria the adherents of the South African "cure" bundle up in heavy overcoats, with woolen gloves and mufflers for good measure.

Both "cures" go back to malarial bad old days when any nonsense passed for medicine if only it was announced solemnly enough. The older and more ignorant the author the better—his "cure" must come from some inner mystical vision denied to most of us.

The amazing thing is that these "cures" ever got into print and that people even more credulous than their inventors still believe such stuff. But these two are recent, in spite of the fact that for many years it has been well known that mosquitoes cause malaria, and quinine will cure it.

It is now over forty years since Sir Ronald Ross absolutely demonstrated that only through the bite of an infected mosquito could one get malaria. And quinine was discovered in 1820, since when it has been the world wide remedy for malaria.

So true is that the United States Public Health Service has issued a recommendation as to the dosage of quinine. Neither the South Carolina negro, nor the he-coated natives of the Transvaal will ever read it. But their respective Health Departments have been telling them that as a cure of malaria, 20 grains of quinine for 5-7 days is just a little better than boring holes in trees or wearing overcoats in tropical regions.

Nancy Kelly and John Loder provide the romance in "Scotland Yard." Showing Wed., Thurs., Sept. 3-4 at The Prince Theatre and Friday, Sept. 5 at the Everglades Theatre.

SWAGGER STICK IS PRECIOUS TO LODER

A swagger stick which he carried as a British officer in the last war is still being used by John Loder. He used the stick in his featured role of a British nobleman with Nancy Kelly and Edmund Gwenn in "Scotland Yard."

Made of bamboo and sheathed in leather at each end, the swagger stick is one of Loder's most precious possessions. He was the youngest cavalry officer in the British army and carried it with him until he was wounded and captured.

A member of his Company found it and sent it to Loder's home with his other personal possessions. When Loder returned home he put it away among his mementos. He dug it out for the first time when assigned his current role in "Scotland Yard."

Maureen O'Hara in "They Met in Argentina." Playing Sun., Mon., Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at the Everglades Theatre. Also late Owl show at Prince Sat. Aug. 30.
